Bagni Volpi Noemi

LUXURIOUS BED LINENS SINCE 1926

Proudly styled and manufactured 100% in Italy.

HISTORY

Our company began producing filet in 1926 in the Tuscan town of Quarrata, a short way from Florence, Italy. During the period of the Second World War, the company was closed but re-opened in 1951 with the successful launch of the company's production of high quality embroidered linen. Using only the most accomplished works in the field of this Tuscan tradition of embroidery, the company reintroduced beautiful embroidery styles and designs, such as "Catherine of Medici" and the famous "Princess". This high quality work characterizes the company's production even today.

In 1964, Bagni Volpi Noemi expanded considerably by opening a company on the island of Madeira, dedicated to the production of hand-embroidered articles of extreme class and beauty. The highly esteemed work carried out in Madeira specialized in embroidery styles such as intaglio work, drawn-thread work and needlepoint, and only the finest linen, silk and cotton fabrics are used.

“As a company, we are committed to furthering the beauty and class of home furnishings. We are sure you will find the personalized designs, style and elegance of our products pure joy to behold!”

With a view to expanding into foreign markets and especially in the American market, we set up a new company in January 1997 called Bagni Volpi Noemi USA, which has its headquarters in Seattle. Here, we have been experimenting with new techniques on satin, quality cottons, piquet and toweling fabrics, in a bid to add a new element of creativity to our work.

OUR WORLD

PROUD OBJECTIVE

Our world reflects our work. We are committed to beauty and quality.

Proud when a bed set, a towel or a tablecloth is appreciated and loved by our customers. Enthusiasm, new ideas and research is part of every day work, along with treasuring in any possible way, traditional craftsmanship and our one hundred percent made in Italy reality. We hope that you who enjoy and admire fine things for the home will share the deep sense of satisfaction with which we present our collections.

AND ENDLESS QUEST

To Milan and Paris to inspect fabrics designs and colors...to noted architects to find inspiration in modern homes and furniture designs... to world's museums for enlightenment from the past... These are just a few of the many journeys that we do to aim for quality and design of exceptional beauty for our collections. We only use the smoothest damasks, jacquards, Percales and Sateens, combined with infinite color combinations to illuminate the world's most beautiful homes. along with treasuring in any possible way, traditional craftsmanship and our one hundred percent made in Italy reality. We hope that you who enjoy and admire fine things for the home will share the deep sense of satisfaction with which we present our collections. characterize the company's production even today.

A hand holding a steam iron over a piece of white fabric with a delicate leaf pattern. The iron is positioned diagonally, and the steam is visible. The fabric has a subtle, repeating pattern of small leaves and stems. The background is a light, neutral color.

“Every piece is by nature, dedicated to those who appreciate good living.”

A RICH HERITAGE

In every piece we make you will find the master artisan's touch. These fine linens come from the hands of Italian craftsman endowed with exceptional tailoring skills. Many of them have several decades' of experience in making linens, a Tuscan tradition with time-honored methods handed down from mother to daughter. Although their ages may differ, their most important qualification is the same: their innate ability that is the mark of the making in a luxury product. As a result embroideries are precise and expressive, feather-light and smooth, hemstitching is delicate but strong... Every piece is by nature, dedicated to those who appreciate good living.
